

Athena Vakali, is a professor at the Department of Informatics, Aristotle University, Greece, where she leads the online sources analytics on Web and Internet distributed platforms (DATA LAB) research group. She holds a PhD degree in Informatics (Aristotle University), a MSc degree in Computer Science (Purdue University, USA) and a BSc in Mathematics (Aristotle University). Her current research interests include big data mining and analytics, Next Generation Internet applications and enablers, smart cities data analytics, online social networks mining, as well as on online sources data management on the cloud. Her publication record of over 120 papers received over 5500 citations (h-index 28 in Google scholar). She has served as a member in the EU Steering Committee for the Future Internet Assembly (2012-14) and she has participated in more than 30 research projects (EU FP7, H2020, and national funds). She has co-chaired major Conferences Committees such as EAI 2016 Conference on Future Internet Infrastructures and Enablers and EU Internet Science Conference 2015.